DMCI Homes unit appoints new Property Management Head

Background/Description of the Disclosure

Leading mid-income residential developer DMCI Homes recently appointed Enrico C. Wong to head its property management unit, DMCI Homes Property Management Corporation (DPMC).

DPMC manages and provides professional services to the completed projects of DMCI Homes. These services include administrative, maintenance, engineering, security, housekeeping, landscaping, among others.

"Quality management is one of my core strengths because of my engineering training and operations management experience," said Wong.

"I am very excited to join DMCI Homes because it is a Triple A builder with a strong commitment to quality. I share their vision of providing middle-class Filipino families with residential communities that create quality lifestyle," he added.

Wong has over 30 years of executive experience in the services and manufacturing industries, covering plant operations and engineering, sales and account management, strategic planning and budgeting, and others.

A graduate of BS Electrical Engineering from the University of the Philippines, Wong obtained his Master in Business Administration from the Ateneo Graduate School of Business where he currently teaches operations management.

Prior to his appointment at DMCI Homes, Wong was Managing Director of Nuvali Steel Processing Services Inc. and Vice President at San Miguel Yamamura Packaging Corporation, a joint venture between diversified conglomerate San Miguel Corporation and Japan's Nihon Yamamura Glass Company, Ltd.

During his 26-year stint at San Miguel, he established and managed international plants in China and Indonesia. Wong also pioneered plastic pallets manufacturing, distribution and leasing in the Philippines.
