GENDER DATA 41

FROM OUR CHIEF DIVERSITY OFFICER

In recent years, our journey toward diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) has been marked by meaningful progress and continuous learning.

As a conglomerate spanning industries such as construction, real estate, mining, and power—fields that have historically seen limited female representation—we are committed to fostering an environment where every employee feels respected, valued, and empowered to succeed.

At DMCI Holdings, our commitment to DEI is unwavering: we strive to create a workplace that champions inclusivity and enables every individual to thrive.

This year, we are pleased to report notable progress in important areas. In management, women now make up 31% of total managers, with middle management showing the most growth, increasing from 26% to 35% over the past two years.

These advancements underscore the importance of women in leadership, ensuring that diverse perspectives are represented in our decision-making processes.

The percentage of women among our new hires reached 30% in 2023, a promising increase from 26% in 2022 and 24% in 2021.

This upward trend in recruitment helps build a stronger and more diverse pipeline for future leadership.

Additionally, our global gender pay gap has narrowed from 5% back in 2021 to 3% in 2023, marking a positive step toward fair and equitable compensation.

While we celebrate our progress, we also recognize areas where we need to intensify our efforts such as attrition where women comprised 31% of our total employee turnover.

However, our vision for DEI extends beyond numbers; it is about fostering a culture of inclusion that values each person's contributions, ideas, and ambitions.

Looking ahead, we remain focused on expanding our development programs, improving career pathways for women and other underrepresented groups, and deepening our commitment to building an inclusive environment across our diverse sectors.

DEI is not just a commitment—it is central to our values and plays a key role in shaping the future of the DMCI Group.

Together, we will continue building a culture of inclusion that not only celebrates diversity but also drives meaningful change.

EQUITY AND INCLUSION

More than an ethical imperative, fostering workplace equity and inclusion has become a strategic necessity to effectively navigate today's complex business environment.

To create the best possible outcomes, organizations must tap into the diverse perspectives, experiences, and talents of its workforce.

At DMCI Holdings, we believe that an inclusive environment not only enriches our corporate culture but also drives innovation and resilience.

By soliciting and integrating these diverse insights, we position ourselves to better anticipate challenges, adapt to change, and deliver sustainable solutions for our stakeholders.

DEI Policy

Our DEI Policy provides guidelines on bereavement leave, annual employee engagement surveys, and supporting gender equality and representation.

Our subsidiaries are encouraged to implement a leave policy for employees to attend or arrange the funeral of an immediate family member.

Employees may also use their available regular leave credits to request for further time off.

On employee engagement, our subsidiaries are required to conduct an employee engagement survey annually to help improve employee experience and reduce attrition.

Data gained from the survey must be assessed by gender and, where practicable, used to enhance health, safety, diversity and inclusion in the workplace.

Subsidiaries are also encouraged to support the formation of employee resource groups (ERGs) to foster employee development, workplace inclusivity and career advancement among women and LGBTQ+.

Gender Equality

DMCI Holdings advances gender equality by proactively working to eliminate barriers to workplace participation due to traditional views on gender roles.

We strive to provide equal access to opportunities, training and mentoring for all employees.

GEI

DMCI collaborates with the Department of Labor and Employment and the Philippine National Police to conduct learning sessions on women's rights.

The company includes a Gender Equality Orientation during the onboarding process for new hires and ensures equal opportunities for growth and development for all employees.

DMCI Homes introduced the Site Superintendent Development Program, aimed at training and developing Project Site Supervisors or Foremen.

Though this has traditionally been a male-dominated program, the company welcomes women trainees, demonstrating commitment to gender equality in recruitment, training, promotion and compensation.

The organization focuses on performance and competency as the sole criteria for promotion to supervisory and higher positions.

At SMPC, there is no gender discrimination in skill training offerings or hiring practices.

The company employs women in roles such as welders, mechanics, motor pool equipment operators and technical experts, defying stereotypes in the traditionally male-dominated fields of mining and power.

Its company policies ensure gender equality in HR processes, including recruitment, performance appraisal, promotion, compensation and employee discipline. They also conduct women empowerment talks and offer HMO coverage for women-specific health check-ups.

DMCI Power guarantees gender-neutral recruitment, benefit provisions, succession planning, career progression and promotion practices.

It also conducts gender equality orientations and seminars among its employees.

DMCI Mining empowers women field workers by training them as backhoe operators and welders, challenging stereotypes associated with traditionally male-dominated roles.

The company ensures a non-discriminatory hiring process and a safe work environment free from harassment.

Additionally, the company provides necessary facilities such as breastfeeding rooms for lactating mothers.

Inclusive Culture

In an era defined by diversity and interconnectedness, the concept of an inclusive culture has evolved from an idealistic aspiration to a cornerstone of organizational success.

Inclusion now plays a critical role in shaping modern organizations, empowering individuals to be their authentic selves while contributing to a more vibrant and progressive future.

Inclusive initiatives and programs in the workplace such as diversity training and recruitment, employee resource groups, flexible work arrangements, family care and mental health support, inclusive leadership training, anti-discrimination policies, accessibility accommodations, supplier diversity programs, inclusive communication, cultural celebrations and more are not merely popular trends.

These are realizations of a fundamental framework that fosters a sense of belonging, respect and equality for every individual, which in turn enhances employee morale, increases job satisfaction and helps attract and retain top talent.

In keeping, DMCI Holdings already employs several of these practices. Our company offers flexible work arrangements, such as flexible working hours or flexi-time, which allow employees to have some control over their work schedules.

The company also offers remote work arrangements, such as telecommuting or working from home.

One of the ways we promote inclusion is offering unconscious bias training to our managers.

This program raises awareness about hidden biases that can affect decision-making and interactions, helping us create a more equitable workplace.

We also recognize the importance of family and work-life balance. Our parental leave guidelines provide ample time for new parents to bond with their children and adjust to the demands of parenthood.

We offer 17 weeks of fully paid primary parental leave, as well as a week of fully paid secondary parental leave.

Of our women employees who returned from parental leave in 2023, 94% remained employed at our company 12 months after their return, a remarkable improvement from 65% in 2022.

In addition, we also provide on-site lactation rooms to working moms for a smoother and more comfortable return to work.

Our company also recognizes that human health extends beyond the physical, and we understand that mental health is vital to the overall well-being of each individual.

Our mental health support services offer resources, counseling and assistance to give our employees the help they need to face challenges, overcome setbacks and develop emotional resilience.

Employee Engagement

DMCI Holdings conducted its first group-wide Employee Engagement Survey (EES), to establish a benchmark of employee satisfaction, engagement and commitment.

This data is intended to drive strategic improvements in talent management and inform decision-making to enhance the employee experience.

The EES focused on key drivers of employee experience:

Engagement: Assessed employee commitment, satisfaction, pride in the company and perceptions of workplace culture.

Leadership: Evaluated the effectiveness of managers and leaders in communication, inspiration and team motivation.

Enablement: Measured employee access to resources, tools, and support structures, including opportunities for professional development.

Alignment: Explored the connection between job expectations, recognition, alignment with company goals, and employee perception of work quality.

Development: Evaluated employee perceptions of growth potential, including the availability of training, mentoring and coaching to enhance skills and support career advancement.

Company Confidence: Assessed employee trust in the company's strategic direction, leadership decisions, resource allocation, and overall prospects for success.

EES Insights

Our inaugural EES yielded valuable insights into the workforce experience. Excluding SMPC, 40% of our regular employees participated in the survey. The majority of respondents were millennial males in rank-and-file positions with 1 to 5 years of service. Key findings from the survey include:

Strong Company Affinity: 88% of respondents expressed pride in working for DMCI companies, indicating a connection to the company's mission. 64% saw themselves employed within the organization in two years, and 71% believed in good internal career opportunities.

Confidence in Leadership: Positive ratings for leadership communication (71%) and clarity of expectations (85%) demonstrate trust in management.

69% also believed the company efficiently allocated resources toward its goals.

Optimistic Outlook: Significant optimism about the company's potential for success (81%) and commitment to quality (79%) aligned with a growth-minded workforce.

Targeted Growth Areas: The survey highlights opportunities to enhance company culture and benefits packages.

Overall, the EES results suggest an engaged workforce with a desire for enhancements in company culture and benefits. To address these findings, the organization is launching targeted initiatives to drive improvement in these areas.

Furthermore, our company strongly condemns and exercises zero tolerance of sexual harassment in our workplace in any shape or form.

Our Anti-Sexual Harassment Policy outlines a framework that defines prohibited behaviors, reporting procedures, investigation protocols and disciplinary actions, aimed at creating a safe and respectful work environment for every employee.

Our culture is based on mutual respect and cooperation, and we consider sexual harassment a serious violation of these principles.

In line with this, our employees are encouraged to complete anti-sexual harassment training annually.
